

WE NOMINATE

John Houghton D'Arms, a singularly able teacher-scholar and the son and grandson of eminent Princetonians, who this week at age 35 — to the satisfaction of those remembering him as an energetic student at both the old Princeton Country Day School and Princeton University — was named Term Trustee of the University. Together with an older, highly regarded New York City banker (a younger brother of a Princeton resident), D'Arms has been tapped for new responsibilities at a time when the nation's universities must reach out for the effective leadership which will enable them to confront, and solve, the complex and serious problems currently vexing and upsetting our society.

Some 11 years ago D'Arms, then 21, appeared on this cover as one of TOWN TOPICS' youngest nominees in its first decade of service to the community. He was "tagged" at that time as an outstanding representative of the country's graduating class of 1956 and was cited for "possessing those qualities of mind and character urgently needed in the profession of teaching and scholarship." It was noted that he had been awarded one of Princeton's top honors, the Keesbey Memorial Fellowship at Oxford University, and had necessarily given up both a Fulbright Award and a National Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, the latter earned in competition among 1,700 nominees across the country.

The grandson of Princeton historian John H. Conway and the son of a retired Rockefeller Foundation executive (Edward F. D'Arms, 910 Princeton-Kingston Road, Princeton), D'Arms has established himself at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, where he is Associate Professor of Classical Studies and Director of Departmental Graduate Studies. His background includes graduate study at Oxford, a doctoral degree at Harvard University, the direction of Tufts University's Classical Year in Cumae, Greece, experience as a Teaching Fellow at Harvard and the publication this year by the Harvard Press of "Romans on the Bay of Naples."

D'Arms' approach to the problems of the moment was indicated two years ago in his appraisal of the thrusts of education. "If these issues are to be properly formulated," he wrote, "yet alone be resolved, in the spirit of free and searching inquiry which is a great university's distinguishing characteristic, it is essential that the debate engage the entire university community. I fervently hope that at Princeton this community will soon include, in addition to a distinguished faculty and an enlightened administration, a truly representative cross-section of the most able of America's youth — young men as well as women."

As an undergraduate D'Arms relished the traditional conception that a Phi Beta Kappa student must forego everything except his studies. He was a member of the governing cabinet of the Student Christian Association and devoted his junior summer to serving as co-director of the Princeton Summer Camp at Blairstown, N. J., which each summer provides vacation opportunities for some 250 youngsters from congested city areas. D'Arms wrote a learned senior thesis in the Classics but was also the gifted pianist for such decidedly unclassical combinations as the Roundhouse Eight Jazz Band, the Nassau Jazz Band and the Tiger Paws.

For undertaking an assignment of far-reaching importance to this community and to the world around it; for meriting the confidences which have been placed in him; for giving Princeton added insights into Princeton; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

NEW PLANS FOR UPTOWN
From University. A new "focus for community life" which would provide Princeton with a new town green and even a possible solution to some traffic problems was proposed last week by Princeton University.

The proposal is Part Two of the plans drawn up by the University's consultant, I. M. Pei & Partners, New York architects. Part One, unveiled May 29 showed the town the University's plans for the area between the Princeton Inn and the railroad station.

The University's consultant has taken Nassau, University Place, Stockton, Bayard Lane and Mercer, and drawn them into a square, pairing part of Mercer and sketching in two new streets: a southward extension of Bayard Lane and a street which would intersect with University where the house, 19 University Place, now is.

Traffic lights would be located at Nassau/Bayard and University/Nassau as they are now and maybe at University and the new street.

John P. Moran, the University's general manager of Planning Plant and Properties, also suggested that eventually Nassau might be widened at the Palmer House corner of Bayard Lane to soften the present sharp angle.

The traffic consultant to I. M. Pei, Warren Travers, did a survey of the area. Mr. Moran said, and found an "unusually high percentage of cars" which changed direction at the Nassau/Mercer/Stockton/University/Bayard intersection. "The amount of straight through traffic was small," he commented.

For cars that want to turn there's more "average-room in a square," he explained. Whether, or where, traffic on the new square would be one-way or two, Mr. Moran didn't say. "There are many solutions," he observed.

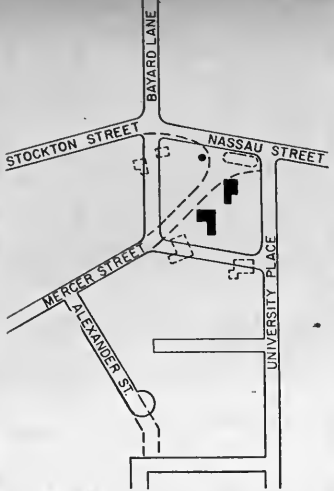

The key to the plan is the removal of Alexander Street from the Borough's Master Plan as a major collector street. University Place should take its place, Mr. Pei and Moran believe.

With this in mind, the new proposal suggests that Alexander be divided into two segments. The upper one, comprising all the handsome old houses just south of Mercer, would end in a cul-de-sac (see sketch). The lower would bend into Dickinson Street.

NEW TOWN SQUARE? Princeton University would like to see the town square off the streets at the multiple intersections of University/Mercer/Stockton-Nassau and Bayard and make a tidy, four-acre, "lawn green." Buildings that would remain are the Nassau Club (left) and the TOWN OFFICES building (right) shown in solid black. Buildings that would be razed or moved elsewhere on the square, are in broken lines. The Battle Monument is a black dot. Details in "This Is Princeton."

Mr. Moran, who outlined the University Place route to the public Thursday and Friday evenings, and all day Saturday and Sunday. He also answered the telephone in the seven house calls.

Only one house on University Place, Number 19 would have to go and the University owns it anyway. The Millholand and Olson house at Stockton and the Edward A. Frothing house at 12 Stockton both rock at the head of Bayard Lane might be moved to other places on the new town green, Mr. Moran suggested.

So could the white-pillared Sheldon House next to the Nassau Club on Mercer Street. (It has already been moved once; it was floated down various rivers by barge from Northampton, Mass., in the mid 18th century.)

"It isn't essential to develop this plan immediately," Mr. Moran said, "it could be developed as future traffic needs indicate."

For example, he pointed out that, when the University moves the University Store from its present location to new quarters across Alexander Street, the University Store on University Place will thin considerably.

Mr. Moran said it was too early to say who would pay for what. Since it's a proposal to the community, he continued, "the University shouldn't presume to discuss it with private owners."

He also said the University hadn't discussed the plans with Princeton Theological Seminary. The Seminary owns some properties on Alexander Street.

"This is only presented as a suggestion to the community," he emphasized, "it's not crucially keyed to the development the University plans for lower University Place."

The University's proposals, including the full traffic analysis leading to the suggestion of a new "square," will be presented publicly to the Princeton Regional Planning Board at its next meeting on Tuesday, July 7, at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall.

than any concern about an individual. Some parents told me they favored Miss Burke because she would keep the school stable, and others said they favored her because she would move it along."

People were concerned about why Dr. Abrams had voted for early tenure for Superintendent Philip E. McPherson.

"I replied that I voted for early tenure in order to retain an able man, and to give the community stability. I told people I had resolved the question in my own mind, and believed the town would benefit from giving him tenure at that time."

"One thing came through sharply," Dr. Abrams said. "Parents who wanted a more traditional structure at the high school for their own children, nevertheless wanted other children to have the option of a four example, independent study or a less traditional approach."

"Are you willing to pay for it?" I always asked, and parents said "Yes!"

Many parents had positive suggestions to offer. These Dr. Abrams has forwarded to the Board of Education. Also, complaints and personal problems have been sent to the superintendent and to the board and Dr. Abrams' visitors will receive replies.

he teachers and the administration share your concern. Discuss things with individual teachers — they'll be happy to listen."

Dr. Abrams, in his own time listening, kept all his visitors separate; there were no simultaneous round table discussions.

"I didn't agree with all of them. I didn't tell them how I felt. I only listened. And do you know," he remarks with surprise, "Not one parent mentioned drug abuse!"

PRINCETONIAN NAMED — To Head County Republicans, William H. Sayen of Princeton was elected chairman of the Mercer County Republican Committee Tuesday night. GOP county committeemen and women gave him a 3 to 1 margin over the incumbent, Anton J. Hollendanner, who had served since 1963.

Mr. Sayen, whose home is on the Great Road, is an executive with the Mercer Rubber Co. He became active in politics two years ago as finance chairman for Sydney H. Sauter, Princeton attorney, when the latter staged an unsuccessful bid to unseat Rep. Frank Thompson, the District Four Congressman. Two years earlier, Mr. Sayen had voted in return Mr. Thompson to Washington.

The vote which placed Mr. Sayen in charge of Republican affairs in Mercer was reported as 112 in his favor to 48 for Mr. Hollendanner and 3 for Lester Allen. The new chairman expressed his belief that, "with hard work, the county can become a Republican and not a Democratic stronghold."

TOPICS Of The Town

MISS BURKE NAMED
As Principal, Florence Burke was appointed principal of Princeton High School Tuesday night by a 72 vote of the Princeton Regional School Board. "No" votes were cast by board president John Marks and William Abrams.

The vote came at the beginning of a three-hour-plus meeting that ended with a roar when John Dwyer, 126 Meadowbrook Drive, shouted into the microphone a denunciation of Superintendent Philip E. McPherson that brought down Dr. Marks' gavel on Mr. Dwyer, the near-appearance in the audience and the meeting itself.

It was the last regular meeting of the board until September, although special meetings may be called during the summer.

Miss Florence Burke

PRINCETON'S NEW FACES: Graduates at the University's 1970 commencement stood out sharply as individuals, not as the usual anonymous, black-gowned mass. As this picture shows, some wore the traditional gown and some did not; some are black and some are white; some are women and some are men. Princeton graduated 736 seniors this year.

Wednesday Approved. Tension was built into the agenda from the start: the principalship, a vote on continuing the Wednesday Program next year and discussion of grading in the Middle School.

The Wednesday Program was approved for 1970-71 by a 62 vote. Winthrop Pike and Philip Cruickshank voted "no" and Mrs. Kathleen Edwards abstained. She gave no reason.

No Grades. Last week in executive session the board heard the Middle School faculty explain its plan to give each student written evaluations rather than grades. The board decided, 63, that grading procedures were an "educational decision" properly left to the school's staff, under board policy.

The Middle School will try the new "report card" for one academic year, starting in September.

Tuesday night's meeting after listening to parents assembled in the Princeton High School auditorium, the board took still a third vote.

This was on a motion by Mr. Pike directing the Middle School staff to set up a dual-track system so that parents could choose either letter grades or teacher comment. This was defeated, 63, with Mr. Cruickshank and Mrs. Edwards supporting Mr. Pike.

The Principal. Miss Burke was appointed without the recommendation of the superintendent, and this led the board down a tangled legal path, guided by board counsel Thomas Cook.

The thick volume of Board of Education policies says that principals shall be appointed "only" on the recommendation of the superintendent.

But the board has the power to employ, under state law. Although the State Commissioner of Education has ruled that a board isn't compelled to accept a superintendent's suggestions and anyway, according to the Commissioner, "A board isn't bound by its own rules and may alter them as it sees fit."

Mr. Cook suggests that the board see fit to alter its rules.

Dr. Marks explained he was voting "no" on the Burke appointment because, by rejecting the superintendent, the board has followed procedures which could make the normal operations of the school system chaotic. The principal is now accountable directly to the board.

Dr. Abrams repeated that he "fully supports" the superintendent.

William Marvel, who moved the appointment, spoke feelingly of Miss Burke's accomplishments during the past academic year, and of his hope for "reasonable stability."

Both Mr. Cruickshank and Mrs. Evelyn Geddes, in voting "yes," referred to "binding our wounds and going forward."

Dr. Robert Bierman said, "I haven't gotten all I wanted, but the most important thing is stability for the students while we try and solve the high school's problems." He said he supported representation of high school decisions for all students and teachers.

The Superintendent. In a lengthy explanation of his stand, Dr. McPherson said he hadn't recommended any candidate, and had been for some years more concerned with restructuring the high school.

"I never eliminated Miss Burke from my recommendations that included a new structure for the high school," he declared. Dr. McPherson had proposed a five-man team for running the school which he has said included Miss Burke as principal.

Commenting on complaints that selection of a principal had "dragged on and on," Dr. McPherson said, "It takes longer when you involve a lot of people," referring to committees of students and faculty who were appointed to help in the decision.

He said Miss Burke had asked the board and administration to wait as late as possible in the school year. "That was good judgment, and I'm glad we did," he said.

The superintendent said the high school faculty isn't sufficiently represented in making decisions, and that when the "strike" came, there was no existing, responsible machinery for faculty action.

"I've been asked to go along reluctantly," he stated, "but I don't act alone. I act for teachers, students, citizens and the

"We Congratulate Her." Miss Burke, appearing publicly at a board meeting for the first time since she became the center of discussion, told the audience, "It's been a good year, in many ways." She said faculty and students would each elect their own committee to work with the Administrative Council.

Dr. McPherson applauded her brief remarks and they shook hands. Dr. Marks said, "We all join to congratulate her, support her and wish her well."

"Wednesdays" Again. Arguments for and against the Wednesday Program had mostly been heard before. T. Burnet Fisher, 542 Snowden Lane, charged lack of structure or specific purpose. He said, "It is difficult to educate children when they are not present," and he questioned giving "custodians, cafeteria workers, bus drivers and secretaries a half day off." He asked whether teachers are required to participate.

He warned that the Program may be "forced on us in perpetuity and we questioned the use of public funds for projects concerned with the Moratorium last fall.

Hassler Whitney, 65 Linwood Circle, replied that the Program cannot be measured.

"Its purpose is to give the school system a chance to hunt for better ways of educating kids and making them grow. Identifying himself as a mathematician, he said, "The public doesn't realize how little kids get out of school," and he cited rate learning in math.

High School students who sit for at the Princeton Study Center Wednesday afternoons described their experiences helping elementary school children.

Frank Quinby, 10 Monroe Lane, who ran unsuccessfully for the school board on a platform of opposition to Wednesdays, suggested that police be brought into the Program to give instruction on drug abuse. He urged more tutoring Wednesday afternoons.

Mr. Cruickshank said he would vote against Wednesdays so long as students were not required to participate. Mr. Pike said the program had both good and bad aspects, but he did not elaborate as he voted "no."

Report Cards. The Middle School's former principal, Eugene Bringer, now associate superintendent, said he had named a committee in 1967 to study report cards.

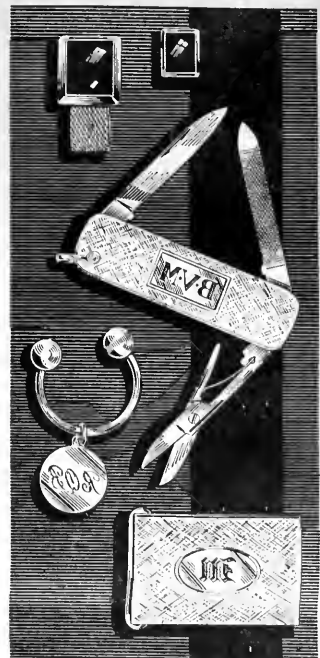

Raymond Hunt and Mrs. Ruth Lotz of the Middle School staff, defended individualized, "narrative" comments by teachers as opposed to letter grades. Mr. Hunt explained that "pass/fail" is an inaccurate description of the proposal.

Mrs. Lotz said parental feedback is important.

Hot Times Ahead

I'm heading for a Sunny beach —
Ooops! The sun
Just out of reach!

Summer is still ten days away, but the heat and humidity it normally brings have taken over the June scene.

Thursday and Friday are expected to provide a good deal of both, with late afternoon or evening showers a Friday possibility. It should be just a bit cooler for the weekend, and for a change,
the weekend may be dry.

Topics Of The Town

ing about grades was "a legiti-mate concern," and she gave a school by school account of private schools in the Princeton area and how they feel a bout a comment versus grade system. All private schools said a comment system would cause no problems.

But Hun's admissions director, who had told Mrs. Lotz Hun "welcomed" comments more than letter grades, was apparently at odds with Hun's headmaster, Dr. Paul Chase.

Everett Garretson, leader in the fight to keep grades, said
Dr. Chase in a letter to Dr.
Marky, stated Hun preferred students from a closely graded system.

Mr. Garretson gave the board 543 signatures on a petition "demanding" that letter at grades be maintained, "as a proper matter for decision by the board."

Mrs. Sharon Powell, Middle School teacher, said letter grades could be "dismantled" and a reflection of more rate learning.

Toward the end of the discussion, Mr. Marvel exclaimed impatiently that the whole thing never should have come to the board at all.

Report cards are a matter for teachers to decide, under board policy, he said, adding that teachers have a parallel responsibility to "bring the community along with information and discussion."

The real issue isn't grades," said board member Henry Poussner, "it's trust in the judgment of the Middle School faculty. Written evaluations are much more time consuming for teachers, and after all the plan has been under discussion for three years."

All this made Dr. McPherson exclaim impatiently, also, about apparent lack of "confidence and faith in profession." He referred to the board's previous vote asking the Middle School not to drop grades and the subsequent about face vote last week allowing the new system to go ahead.

"What kind of a system are we operating under he exclaimed, "we haven't even begun to see the chaos!" He added that many parents had told him,
"Great! You've got a Middle School faculty that's really moving!"

The evening was about to end, more or less peacefully, when Mr. Dwyer came to the microphone.

"Discussion in this community today comes from the gulf between administration and parents and the absolutely unbelievable performance of the superintendent in regard to the principalship. Nothing short of your resignation," he shouted, pointing at Dr. McPherson,
"can solve the problems of this community."

Bans, cheers and shouts began, and Dr. Marks adjourned the meeting.

TWP. CHIEF OPPOSED

To Command Change. A proposed Township ordinance that would make the police chief responsible to the administrator has been called a grave mistake by Chief James B.
Campbell Jr.

Presently, Chief Campbell is commissioner and to the other members of Committee — all elected officials. Administrator
Joseph R. Nini is an appointee.

Committee will vote Monday night on the ordinance, which has the backing of William Wilson, the Police Commissioner.
The proposed administrative change was one of the recommendations of Thomas Brennan, who conducted a one man study of the operations of Township police earlier this year.

In a statement to Commitee — also signed by Lt. Fred Crick Porter and Lt. Richard Dwyer — Chief Campbell stated that he was very much opposed to the ordinance because he felt that only elected officials and not an appointee should have control of the police department. "Elected officials are answerable to the public, where an appointee is answerable only to Commitee," he said. Chief Campbell added that "well over a majority" of the remaining 23 men on his force were also opposed to any change of the existing structure.

Further, Chief Campbell said he felt that such a change would lead to a conflict of interest between the chief and the administrator. "One would be undercutting the other,"
he declared, "and sooner or later the morale of the department would be affected."

You cannot have an appointed superior over the Chief

"A GRAVE MISTAKE" is the way Township Police Chief James B. Campbell Jr. sees a proposed ordinance that would alter the administrative structure of the police department.

On Thursday, Chief Campbell will celebrate his 34th year as a member of the Township Police. Story This Page.

On Thursday, Chief Campbell of Police," he continued. "For a department to function with maximum efficiency, you cannot have two chiefs. How can a man who has never worked the road or made an arrest be in a position to call the shots?" he asked.

Unaware Ordinance. Saying that he was certain that many citizens were not aware of the proposed change, Chief Campbell invited those who are satisfied with the police department as it now operates to make their feelings and concern known to Committee.

The Township police department maintains the highest integrity and respect in this community, and any breakdown or change in the existing structure would be a grave mistake."

Mr. Nini told TOWN TOPICS that he knows of no organized opposition to the ordinance.

The Borough has had a similar ordinance since 1966. Police Chief Peter J. McGrohan reports to Administrator Robert P. Mooney in all administrative matters. Technical police questions do not come under Mr. Mooney's purview, nor would they come under Mr. Nini's jurisdiction, under provisions of the Township's proposed ordinance.

Chief Campbell has been a member of the department since June 11, 1936, and chief since July 1, 1954. He has five more years until he reaches retirement age of 65.

He has been a Borough employee since 1962. Also named were Roger Gruebele of Cooper and Schaefer and Robert Harny, assistant Borough engineer.

Licenses Fees Debated. A public hearing was held on the proposed 20 percent increase in the liquor license fees. Archie Brown of Wine & Game Shop told Council, "We feel that other businesses should pay their share."

Under the planned schedule, Borough bars will pay $1,429 instead of $1,191 for a license. The liquor stores' license cost is raised to $1,068 from $890. Councilman Charles Cornforth who noted that Council is considering the increase of other license fees, said that Borough operating costs are up 17 percent this year.

Mayor Robert Cawley told representatives from Wine & Game, Varsity Liquors and Cousins Co. that license fees are $1,050 in Summit and $729 in Maplewood, two comparable communities. The dealers' increased taxation of the liquor industry, the burden of sizeable amounts tied up in credit accounts and inventory, also high wages and lower profits. Bruce Crandall of Cousins pointed out that a liquor store in Princeton, which does "a business like we do, but he only pays around $360."

Council split on its fee schedule, after retiring for an executive session. However, it asked that all groups of license holders to present summaries of their businesses' problems just before the budget sessions in the fall. "If you could educate us, I think it would be to your advantage," Councilman James Anderson said.

The contract for reconstruction of Glenhurst Lane was awarded to Albert E. Barrett.

SENIOR OF THEM ALL: J. Linberger Davis of Independence Drive was the oldest participant in Saturday's annual alumni parade. He was the sole member of the Class of 1900 on hand for his 70th reunion. More than 2,000 graduates — a smaller number than in other years — marched in a light rain from Nassau Hall to an annual meeting at Pardee Field.

 whose bid of $21,999.50 was by low the budgeted amount. Council also approved the appointment of Kerry A. Kink, 23, a native Princetonian, a probationary officer on the police force. It agreed to request the state for a 35-mph speed limit on Elm Road from Sucktion Street to Barnhill line, as suggested by the Traffic Safety Committee.

Incidents of the Memorial Day parade sponsored by the American Legion were discussed by Mayor Cawley and Councilman Robert N. Hendry. The latter quoted from the report of Police Chief Peter McGowan calling the confrontation between the peace marchers and the legionnaires "an ugly, volatile and dangerous situation." Mr. Hendry said he would discuss with other members of Council "how to prevent confrontations on the streets that endanger the lives of the people."

Air pollution problems are being caused by fly ash and smoke from the Borough incinerator, Mr. Andrews reported. "We could be closed down in August if the state chose to," he said. The incinerator, built about 30 years ago, is malfunctioning as well as inadequate in size, he said. He warned that the Borough will possibly need to build a new incinerator in the near future.

TOWNSHIP HOME ENTERED Color TV Set Taken. A virtually new 23-inch color television set was stolen Monday morning from the home of C. Convers Goddard, 253 Ridgeview Road.

Police said that Mrs. Goddard left the house just before 10 o'clock and returned less than a half-hour later to find the set missing. Ptl. Howard Sweeney, who investigated, said that the thief apparently entered through the unlocked front door.

In the Borough, Chan K. Park, 231 John Street, reported articles valued at $95 taken from his home last Wednesday between 3:30 and 11. Stolen, police said, were two radios, some jewelry and $10 in pennies.

Entry was gained by removing a piece of cardboard that had covered a mailing slot of glass in a rear window, reaching in and unlocking the door. Sgt. Theodore Lewis investigated.

Mrs. Helen Larkin reported last week the theft of her purse containing $500 from her upstairs room at 27 Bank Street. and Matt Glinski, manager of the Cottage Club, 31 Prospect Avenue, reported the theft from a first floor closet of a high

NINE ARE HONOURED

At University Commencement, Mrs. Coretta S. King, widow of Dr. Martin Luther King, civil rights leader and Nobel Prize winner, was among nine recipients of honorary degrees at Princeton University's 233d Commencement exercises Tuesday.

Others singled out on the occasion were Bob Dylan, folk singer and composer; Walter Lippmann, editor and author; Walter E. Washington, Mayor, Commissioner of the District of Columbia; and two former Princeton residents, Gordon A. Craig, '56, former university faculty member now teaching at Stanford, and Jacob D. Beum '29, U.S. Ambassador to Russia, a career diplomat whose early education came at Miss Fine's School.

Tuesday's commencement, held as always in front of Nassau Hall, was also marked by the first graduation of eight women at the undergraduate level. All of them first enrolled here in the fall of 1968 as one-year students in the University's Critical Languages Program, but stayed to become coeds (and seniors) last September.

In all, 1,223 degrees were awarded by President Robert F. Goheen: 624 bachelor of arts, 402 bachelors of science in engineering, 170 masters of arts, 13 masters of science in engineering, 26 masters in public affairs, 13 masters of fine arts, 11 masters of architecture, one master of architecture and urban design.

han planning, and 238 doctors of philosophy (For the names of graduates from the Princeton area, see page 36)

These were among the citations of the honorary degree recipients:

Gordon A. Craig, Doctor of Letters: Princeton to the heart, he comes here today as a visitor from Stanford, American as Nassau Hall, he was born in Scotland. He is recognized as one of this country's most prudent authorities on European history, but he casually combines his scholarly discipline with a series of amateur enthusiasms of passionate intensity: diplomatic history and the Prussian army mix readily with fly fishing and swimming; German literature and Dickens rub shoulders with songs of his own composition such as "The Preceptorial Blues." As a former colleague once remarked, "He's the best poker player I know who is also a great life instructor."

Bob Dylan, Doctor of Music: As one of the most creative popular musicians of the last decade, he has based his technique in the arts of the common people of our past and turned his appeals for human compassion from the experience of the dispossessed. Paradoxically, though known in millions, he shuns publicity and organizations, preferring the solidarity of his family and isolation from the world. Although he is now approaching the perilous age of thirty, his music remains the authentic expression of the disturbed and concerned conscience of young America.

Walter E. Washington, Doctor of Laws: Since first he went there to college more than thirty years ago, he has spent the major part of his life in the city whose name he bears and of which he is now Mayor. Commissioner, the first black chief executive of a great American metropolis. To the almost superhuman demands of the administration of our nation's capital, he brings long experience in government, particularly in the critical field of public housing, as well as the personal qualifications of an easy flexibility of mind, constant receptivity of new ideas, and a responsive affability, a charm that make him immediately accessible to the people of his troubled city.

Coretta Scott King, Doctor of Humanities: As once she laid aside her considerable musical gifts to devote herself to marriage, so she later put away personal grief and renounced bitterness, that she might devote herself to the service of her people. Continued on Next Page vote herself completely to the beliefs for which her husband had suffered. Her simple dignity, her gracious demure, her courageous self-control captured the heart and awakened the sympathy of the people of the world. Since then her dedication to the great goals she shared with her husband, and her unflinching perseverance in the belief in a nobler future, have earned her a recognition all her own.

Walter Lippmann, Doctor of Laws: For nearly six decades he has been an agitating influence on American political thinking, and for half that time perhaps the most influential newspaperman in the country. His daily columns as bracing as black coffee and a cold shower. Judicious, often so flexible. TOWN TOPICS reaches every home and place of business served by the Princeton post office, by their own figures no other Princeton newspaper does half as well.

able as to irritate his opponents, always scholarly, he has raised personal journalism to the level of the classical essay, constantly seeking the permanent meaning behind transitory political phenomena. As a distinguished colleague has said of him, "While philosophy may be his love, journalism has been his mistress, and the amazing thing is that he has managed to be so faithful to both."

Jacob D. Beam, Doctor of Laws: Descendant of proud Princeton family, he was born, bred, and educated in this community, but his career has taken him to the remote margins of the globe. The gentleness and poise of his exterior belie the unrelenting determination of this scholarly, linguistically gifted statesman, and the tough fiber of his quiet diplomacy. Long foreign service has made him the State Department's senior Kremlinologist, now our nation's representative in its most important ambassadorial post — the critical point of contact between the two major powers of the modern world.

Alex Wojciechowicz

CANDIDATE MOVES

Republicans Need Fill-in. Alex Wojciechowicz, one of the two Republican candidates for Borough Council, is moving across the frontier into the Township and has withdrawn from the race.

Mr. Wojciechowicz, who lives at 272 Hamilton Avenue, has bought the house at 7 Herron town Road, the former "Scott House."

The Republican County Committee of the Borough under its captain, Mrs. Coleman deP. Donaldson, must now find a candidate and file his name with Borough Administrator Robert F. Moore. Along with 34 calendar days before the November election. That's October 1 by Mr. Moore's calculation.

So far, no candidate. At Monday night's annual meeting of the Borough's county committee, held each year after the primaries, Mrs. Donaldson was elected captain and Michael Erdman, deputy. Mr. Wojciechowicz had been deputy previously.

DEMOCRATS A STR

New Chairman Elected. Nine Borough Democratic committee members banded together after last week's primaries and called a meeting of all Borough Democratic Committee members and women for Monday night.

State law calls for such a meeting in both parties the first week after primaries to elect their chairmen. However, in the Borough Democracy, the chairman has usually been appointed by the president of the Princeton Democratic Association rather than elected, and some Borough Democrats charge that the post primary meeting hasn't always been held.

The move followed a primary in which incumbent Democratic committee members and women were tossed out by challengers in two districts. In a third district, incumbents managed to beat off the challengers.

The three winning challengers — Fred Bohm in District 2, Murray Medvin and Mrs. Elbet Pankove in District 3 — were among the nine who call

PIEDMONT UNRAVING
In Crane Tragedy, The State Department of Labor and Industry has been asked to participate in the investigation of the death last week of two steel riggers on the Princeton University campus.

Robert F. Finocchio, 37, of Vardell, Pa., and Edwin A. Dillon, 52, of Trenton, were killed instantly when a crane fell on them as they were attempting to install a 28-foot tall Alexander Calder sculpture in the plaza of the new Jadwin mathematics physics complex, off Washington Road.

A 90-foot boom, topped with a 30-foot coil of cable, on the men when a supporting cable broke. The year-old crane was used by the Industrial Engineering Works of Trenton.

employment of both victims. According to police, the workmen were attempting to raise one of the legs of the 8100-pound sculpture eight inches to install leveling blocks. The sculpture was 95 feet from the base of the crane. At that distance, the crane is capable of safely lifting between 4500 and 5700 pounds according to load figures on the crane.

As a result of the accident, one section of the statue, entitled "Orange Discus," was bent. It has been taken down and stored in a university warehouse for repairs. Officials at the university said that they did not know when the sculpture would be erected again.

MICHAEL TO MILBURN

Shortly before 1 a'clock while on car patrol, Ptl. Gerald Patterson noticed a pane of glass knocked out above the door. He radioed for help, after seeing a man inside, and the station was surrounded.

Grant was arrested by Sgt. Theodore Lewis and Ptl. James Agius. At the time, he had a screwdriver in his possession and $3 in change, which, po-

BUSINESS In Princeton

FLORAL SHOP TO CLOSE

After 31 years, Applegate Floral Shop, 41 Palmer Square West, will go out of business on August 1, marking the end of 31 years of floral arrangements for Princeton families. "We're just tired!" Randolph E. Applegate 2d said on Tuesday. "We can't get the help today. There aren't many people in this business any more — it's long, hard work, not just looking at beautiful flowers."

"And in this business, where flowers are so perishable, there's a lot of waste," he added. "Another thing, a spray of flowers used to cost $3, now it's never less than $10. Everything else is going up."

Applegate's also maintained a Palmer Square shop that sold artificial flowers for about a year and a half, closing it in April. "They put the rent up — and with two places, that meant quite a bit," Mr. Applegate commented. "You get to the point where you've had it."

Opened in 1938, Applegate Floral Shop has been a family enterprise, started 31 years ago at 10 Chambers Street by Mrs. Mary C. Applegate, who drew her husband, Randolph R. into the enterprise.

"We've been on Palmer Square for 50 years, ever since they opened the shops here and came over to my grandmother and begged her to rent space," Randolph E. 2d comments.

The present owners are Randolph E. Applegate, and his wife Iola. Mrs. Amelia Thornton, Randolph E.'s mother-in-law, assisted at the shop from the early Thirties until her retirement in 1961. Randolph 2d has been on the staff for the past 15 years.

Mrs. Myrtle Conley, who has been with Applegate's for the past 10 years, will be retiring. The owners are thinking in terms of living in Bay Head. "We're trying to find a successor," Randolph E. 2d said Tuesday. "To buy the name and the business, Applegate's has been around for a long time. Applegate's, Renwick's, the Princeton Inn — they're all going."

PAR TO BUY DIVISION

Of California Firm. Princeton Applied Research Corporation has agreed in principle to purchase the Laboratory Instrument Division of Solid State Radiations, Inc. of Santa Monica, California, for approximately 20,000 shares of P.A.R. common stock.

PAR, a Princeton firm, has annual sales of about $5 million and manufactures scientific research instruments. The acquisition will be operated as a subsidiary in the Santa Monica area, producing a complementary line of instruments. A minority interest will be held by certain employees of the Instrument Division of Solid State Radiations, Inc. who will join the new subsidiary and provide the administrative, technical and marketing management.

At the time of his retirement, Mr. Gettelfinger was deputy director of the Strategic Air Command's Command Control at its Headquarters at Offutt Air Force Base in Nebraska. During the early 1960s, Mr. Gettelfinger was instrumental in the development of the current automated control system employed by SAC. An Air Force officer since 1942, he was assigned to the Strategic Air Command in 1950.

COMPUTERIZED SPIRITS
At Nassau Liquors, the first full-time use of a computerized cash register in New Jersey began this week at Nassau Liquors, Inc.

The new register, manufactured by the Friden Division of the Singer Corporation, is the first production model going into regular retail use.

Automatically computed are sales tax, quantities, and cash discounts for the sales person. Also, the unit records what has been sold by item and price, and by charge account customer when charged.

A computer center then automatically calls the register at the end of the day, recording the information for reports on inventory levels, gross profit, customer charges, sales by clerks, tax forms, etc.

The resulting reports may be supplied as frequently as twice a week, and also cover store data from gallons sold to recommended orders.

The data processing service for Nassau Liquors is provided by Transaction Data Corporation, a Princeton firm which spent a year and a half working with individual liquor stores in developing the system.

MIDWEST TO EXPAND
With Plant in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., to locate a second extraction operation in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., has been announced by Ray B. Sowers, President and Chairman of the Board of Midwest Aluminum Industries.

The new facility will be located in the Crestwood Industrial Park in Mountain Top, Pa., situated near two new major federal highways and the Northeast Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, after one last delivery service to all of the eastern and midwestern markets.

"This move," stated Mr. Sowers, "will be a fourth major step, and our largest in increasing our services to companies desiring quality and fast delivery. Our services to date in our Dayton facilities have been built on our ability to supply lubricants and materials of close tolerance parts. In the last year the company's Dayton plants have been operating on an overtime basis, placing a strain on delivery lead time."

CONTRACT FOR DATARAM
Worth $65,000, Dataram Corporation, Princeton, designer and manufacturer of computer memory products and test equipment with headquarters on Route 1, has been awarded a $65,000 contract for memory systems by Clary Data Corp. ## DRUG ABUSE

Problems of Identification:

It is important that teachers and parents recognize the common symptoms and signs of drug abuse, since many potential "hard-core" addicts can be rehabilitated if their involvement in drug abuse is detected in its early stages.

1. COMMON SYMPTOMS OF DRUG ABUSE:

- (a) Changes in school attendance, discipline and grades.
- (b) Change in the character of homework turned in.
- (c) Unusual flare-ups or outbreaks of temper.
- (d) Poor physical appearance.
- (e) Furtive behavior regarding drugs and possessions.
- (f) Wearing of sunglasses at inappropriate times to hide dilated or constricted pupils.
- (g) Long-sleeved shirts worn constantly to hide needle marks.
- (h) Association with known drug abusers.
- (i) Borrowing of money from students to purchase drugs.
- (j) Stealing small items from school.
- (k) Finding the student in odd places during the day such as closets, storage rooms, etc. to take drugs.

(d) THE NARCOTIC ABUSER: ... (HEROIN — DEMEROL — MORPHINE, ETC.):

These individuals are not frequently seen in school, and usually begin by drinking paregoric or cough medicines containing codein — the presence of empty bottles in wastebaskets or on school grounds is a clue.

- (1) Inhaling heroin in powder-form leaves traces of white powder around the nostrils, causing redness and rawness.
- (2) Injecting heroin leaves scars on the inner surface of the arms and elbows. ("Mainlining.") This causes the student to wear long-sleeved shirts most of the time.
- (3) Users often leave syringes, bent spoons, cotton and needles in lockers — this is a telltale sign of an addict.
- (4) In the classroom the pupil is lethargic, drowsy. His pupils are constricted and fail to respond to light.

(e) THE MARIJUANA ABUSER:

They are difficult to recognize unless under the influence of the drug at the time they are being observed.

- (1) In the early stages student may appear animated and hysterical with rapid, loud talking and bursts of laughter.
- (2) In the later stages the student is sleepy or stuporous.
- (3) Depth perception is distorted, making driving dangerous.

NOTE: Marijuana cigarettes are rolled in a double thickness of brown or off-white cigarette paper. These cigarettes are smaller than a regular cigarette with the paper twisted or tucked in at both ends, and with tobacco that is greener in color than regular tobacco. The odor of burning marijuana resembles that of burning weeds or rope. The cigarettes are referred to as "reefers, sticks, Texas tea, pot, rope, Mary Jane, loco weed, jive, grass, hemp, hay."

2. MANIFESTATIONS OF SPECIFIC DRUGS:

(a) THE GLUE SNIFFER:

- (1) Odor of substance inhaled on breath and clothes.
- (2) Excess nasal secretions, watering of the eyes.
- (3) Poor muscular control, drowsiness or unconsciousness.
- (4) Presence of plastic or paper bags or rags containing dry plastic cement.

(b) THE DEPRESSANT ABUSER: ... (BARBITURATES — "GOOFBALLS"):

- (1) Symptoms of alcohol intoxication with one important exception — no odor of alcohol on the breath.
- (2) Staggering or stumbling in classrooms or halls.
- (3) May fall asleep in class.
- (4) Lacks interest in school activities.
- (5) Is drowsy and may appear disoriented.

(c) THE STIMULANT ABUSER: ... (AMPHETAMINES — "BENNIES"):

- (1) Cause Excess Activity — student is irritable, argumentative, nervous and has difficulty sitting still in classrooms.
- (2) Pupils are dilated.
- (3) Mouth and nose are dry with bad breath, causing user to lick his lips frequently and rub and scratch his nose.
- (4) Chain smoking.
- (5) Goes long periods without eating or sleeping.

(f) THE HALLUCINOGEN ABUSER:

It is unlikely that students who use LSD will do so in a school-setting since these drugs are usually used in a group situation under special conditions.

- (1) Users sit or recline quietly in a dream or trance-like state.
- (2) Users may become fearful and experience a degree of terror which make them attempt to escape from the group.
- (3) The drug primarily affects the central nervous system, producing changes in mood and behavior.
- (4) Perceptual changes involve senses of sight, hearing, touch, body-image and time.

NOTE: The drug is odorless, tasteless and colorless and may be found in the form of impregnated sugar cubes, cookies or crackers. LSD is usually taken orally but may be injected.

Questions for the University.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The recent proposal to develop the Princeton Central Railroad station as a new plaza for the convenience of the University raises many important questions relative to the University's relationship with the community. At the all day town and gown session held at the University, a first step was supposed to have been taken to improve communication between the two groups.
In the proposed plan, I note that two relatively low cost housing units will be torn down and the occupants forced to move. Recognizing that the University does own the property, I should like to know how this action reflects the University's oft-stated concern to retain the balance in the community, and its recognition of its responsibility of the need for increasing the availability of low cost housing in Princeton?

Jin Moran indicated that there was a possibility that a portion of the plaza would be a suitable for housing needs of the community. While there was some indication that this might still be a possibility, I see no firm proposal put forward by the University.

I would suggest that the Planning Board would look with disfavor on the proposed plan which would disrupt traffic patterns, displace residents and established businesses and alter the railroad station to be relocated further out of town. Improvised parking would be improved.

However, I would like to remind the University that many of the cars in that area belong to students - it should be noted that it was only a short time ago that the University promised that students' cars would not be in University lots and not in the town's streets. As usual, the promise was not kept. Commuters should note that during the summer months, parking at the station will be a lot easier.

I should like to request the University to firm up its ideas as to what portion of the plaza development can be considered available for low cost housing for Princeton residents and what the University's plans are for these times we need to see the University's plans to provide the leadership. That of course is very good, but is it enough?

PHS Failures Listed

To the Editor of Town Topics:

You can't fool all the people all the time. How many Princetonians are fooled? The time has come for the citizens of the Princeton Community to wake up and stop being fooled. The time has come for the Princeton Taxpayers to reexamine the Princeton school system and take action which will solve these problems and insure your children's educational opportunity and your money.

The issue in question is not the recent high school strike. This is merely one symptom of the deeper underlying problem. Other symptoms are lack of student discipline, the Wednesday program, failure to maintain an accurate record of attendance, failure to keep the high school clean and orderly, failure to appoint a principal of the high school, failure to appoint a number of department heads and the list goes on.

What is the major problem? It can be defined simply as poor management, management overcentralization and lack of decisive action. Who's at fault? The system is corrupt. Who's in charge, they're responsible.

It appears that progress is confused with radical change (for example, the trucks suggestion of the three ring leader) at the high school. Should the name be changed to "Big Top High"? Where are the roots of this principle? Progress is not always change, it is more often improved efficiency. At this moment, Princeton High School is probably the most inefficient in the state.

How can you solve the problems of the school system, if you I promise that you remove the rotten apples and clean the barrel. Decentralize in other words, give the principals of the schools an authority to act.

Responsibility without authority is idiotic. Motivate the School Board to act decisively on the problems involved. Two years to decide to hire a principal for the high school is more than ridiculous, it is pitiful.

Four years ago I graduated from Princeton High School and was aware of the student train of thought then and I believe I know what it is now. Students don't pay taxes, therefore they don't run schools. They do try to avoid going to class. Are Princetonians so naive to believe that these 1418 year old children weren't more interested in having a good time than in the Cambodian campaign during the recent strike?

Princetonians shake your heads, get organized and take action.

A Long Way from Victory.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
A variety of reactions have been reported to the School Board's public meeting at the high school on May 26. It was an occasion of some significance.

The basic issues of the meeting were leadership and responsibility. These matters are also at the heart of the present crisis in the school system.

The question of leadership was focused on the matter of high school governance. Who can best lead? A committee or an individual? An educator or an administrator? And can the decision be deferred for another year, or should some action be taken now? Not easy questions.

Of more fundamental significance is the question of leadership in the school system as a whole, and here I am talking about educational leadership. What is its source? The Wednesday program is based on the premise that it is the teachers who must provide the leadership. That of course is very good, but is it enough?

As for responsibility, for deciding how to run the schools, that belongs to both the Board and the Administration. They are still legally in control.

They must be responsible to many groups: to students, to teachers, to parents, and to taxpayers. When they fail to do so, the confidence in the school system, the school system suffers. Each month we have new evidence of that.

The May 26 meeting may have succeeded in demonstrating explosive student tensions, but it was a failure as a public relations effort. Too many adults with a record of concern and support for the school system were turned off. And too many people who are looking for guidance find only permissiveness.

Nor was the meeting a showcase of democratic participation. Most kids are quite capable of speaking their own minds, and a great many did on that occasion. But at least some on each side were in fact manipulated into action by their elders - surely a deplorable situation.

Maybe it is like Viet Nam.

Disturbed Commuter.

To the Editor of Town Topics.

A joint investigation of the Jersey Arrow equipment of the Penn Central is being conducted this week by the New Jersey Department of Public Utilities and the New Jersey Department of Transportation.

I enclose a copy of a letter I have sent to President Richard M. Ozzard of the Department of Public Utilities and Commissioner John Kahl of the Department of Transportation, with the thought that other commuters in the Princeton area must wish Mr. Ozzard's address is 101 Commerce Street, Newark, N.J. and Mr. Kahl's address is 102 Parkway Avenue, Trenton, N.J.

Dear Mr. Ozzard

In connection with your current investigation of the Jersey Arrow equipment, I enclose copies of correspondence I had last year with your Commissioner Goldberger and Mr. Kahl of the Penn Central, which I wish you would make part of the record.

As a regular commuter on the Penn Central for the past 11 years, I am deeply disturbed in the deterioration of what used to be excellent service which is attributable to the move to a failure on the part of the Railroad and the State to anticipate the increase in commuter traffic accompanying the increase of suburban housing in the Penn Central commuting area. The disappointing performance of the Jersey Arrow equipment seems to me to be less important than the cost of equipment it reflects, namely, that the problem of mass transportation can be solved by buying new cars without any consideration of who will rule them and when.

If I may mention that the reason of Jersey Arrow Train 3811 is a good example of this.

error of judgment. This train was put on between Princeton Junction and New York on September 29, 1969, with the announced purpose of eliminating the standstill problem on Trains 254 and 260 which operate 15 minutes before and 12 minutes after it.

The fact is that today, more than six months after it commenced operation, Train 3811 leaves Princeton Junction and New York on September 29, 1969, with the announced purpose of eliminating the standstill problem on Trains 254 and 260 which operate 15 minutes before and 12 minutes after it.

Reunited Lawrence Township. To the Editor of Town Topics: Buzzell to the post office identity card, my name is in the Lawrence Township directory as South Lawrenceville for that area, south of Franklin Road, and that and Lawrenceville for the village and the area to the north.

In the interest of harmony, I would like to see Mr. Tyler's name changed to a minor change since it would appear he stopped at one short stop from the perfect and logical solution.

There are in fact, two broadly defined areas, south of Franklin Road, the area immediately to the south and generally alluded to as "the developments," and the south terminus portion adjacent to Princeton.

The village itself of course would retain exclusive right to the name Lawrenceville, as numbered by any municipality. The beauty of this solution is its simplicity, ease with which each area is geographically defined, and the unique identity awarded to each.

My proposal being but a negligible modification of Mr. Tyler's original solution, or to wise alters, his intent must not be construed as an attempt to usurp any credit due him and him alone.

High-Cost Bussel Opposed.

To the Editor of Town Topics: I want to add my protest against the proposed erection of a high rise building on Mt. Lucas Road. This is one of the few tree-lined roads left in Princeton, and I cannot possibly conceive of permission for such an unsuitable building.

Several years ago there was more to make a small nine hole golf course where there was already a charming stone house and numerous trees. It was on the grounds that it would increase traffic on a country road.

A high rise office building would aggravate the traffic problem and would completely change the character of this charming bit of Princeton.

Thoughts From Two Winners.

To the Editor of Town Topics: This is an Open Letter to all Borough Democrats of the Third District.

We would like to thank this opportunity to take this Borough Democrats in District 3 who took the time to vote in the June 2nd Primary. Naturally, we are all very grateful to those who voted for us and particularly to our friends and hunk captains who worked so hard in our behalf.

The newspapers reporting the election all said that the turnout was light, approximately 25%. In our District, the turnout was closer to 40%, and it is an indication of what hard work can do.

During the balloting, when the result was very much in doubt, we told our opponents that regardless of the outcome they could count on us to help in the forthcoming November elections. Now that the primary fight is behind us, we ask our opponents to make a similar pledge and we sincerely hope they will do so, because the paramount thing at stake is electing Democratic candidates in November. Thus, we call upon each and every one of you to vote as hard in their behalf as you did for us and our opponents.

We would like to like to go to all of our many friends who called WHIL for election returns only to be told that the election was too important to be carried on the air. This extremely puzzling to us, since we were always under the impression that a local radio station's principal objective was to provide a local service and particularly to report local events. We know that it was important to all of us who turned out to vote and we only regret that WHIL did not concur.

Thanks to the taxpayers. To the Editor of Town Topics: We are fast approaching the close of another school year. For some it's a feeling of accomplishment and for others a sense of freedom and a feeling of uncertainty about their immediate futures.

Many of us will attend this graduation and applaud our children in a showing of family and community pride, but we have failed to applaud the most valuable participants of all: The Parents and Taxpayers. It is important to most qualified observers, if not all

Trenton Man Arrested. Robert Brugno, 23, of Trenton, was arrested last week by two members of the New Jersey State Police narcotics bureau, who charged him with aiding and abetting the sale of narcotics.

Brugno was held in $5,000 bail to await a hearing in Borough Court on Wednesday, June 17. Chief Peter J. McGrath said that the alleged sale of narcotics took place in the Borough.

ASK HOUSING LAW

For Borough, Township and Municipal Ordinance prohibiting discrimination in housing - sale, rental or financing - have been requested by the Princeton Joint Commission on Civil Rights.

In letters to Mayor Robert W. Cowley of the Borough and John D. Wallace of the Township, the Commission says that if Princeton had a local ordinance, cases of discrimination could be acted upon much more quickly than they can under the time consuming state statute.

Gordon Mack, chairman of the Commission, adds, "such ordinances will provide assurance to minority groups in the Princeton community that their local officials are seriously concerned about the problems of discrimination."

The Commission recently made a study of the problem. The head land mark has become under that law, the local civil rights organization is the central agency. People can take their grievances to the civil rights commission instead of filing a complaint in municipal court if they wish.

In other communities, or distances have prohibitions against blockbusting, but Princeton's commission says it sees no need for such ordinances at this time in Princeton.

If Princeton's commission becomes an agency for conciliation under local ordinance, commissioners say, a proponent will be established whereby many cases of discrimination can be handled in the local and resolved. Where attempts at conciliation are unsuccessful, the local ordinance would provide for removal action in the lower municipal court. The complainant could also go to court immediately, if he wished.

Stanley Smoyer, lawyer who serves on the Civil Rights Commission, has been advised that the courts would probably uphold the constitutionality of a local discrimination ordinance.

There is a question as to whether such an ordinance would conflict with state laws on discrimination. Gordon Griffin, municipal attorney for both Borough and Township, has been asked to investigate.

"I think Borough Council probably views this favorably," commented Mayor Cowley. He added that the Civil Rights Commission has discussed the proposal with Princeton realtors who support it also.

Township Committee hasn't had a chance to discuss this," said Mayor Wallace. "But I feel we ought to do anything the Civil Rights Commission thinks is necessary in this area."

THREE ARE INJURED
In Rear End Collision. Three persons suffered minor injuries early Thursday afternoon when two cars collided on rain-slicked Stockton Street near Lovers Lane.

One of the drivers, Richard Jaquish, 47, of Pat Hill and his passenger, G. Lorraine Beam, 32, of Chester, N.J., each received lacerations of the nose. They were taken to Princeton Hospital, treated and released.

The other driver, Lois M. Gubrother, 33, 131 Mountain Avenue, complained of pain in the neck. She, too, was treated and released.

and released from Princeton Hospital.

According to the investigating officer, Ptl. William Hunter, the Gubrother car was attempting to turn onto Lovers Lane when it was rammed from behind by Mr. Jaquish's station wagon. The impact forced the Gubrother car ahead 70 feet.

Mr. Jaquish was charged with careless driving. His car had to be towed away.

The closing of Valley Road will also be up for public hearing along with the ordinance appropriating $9,000 for some landscaping of Open Space Valley.

Mr. Jaquish's closing is by no means foregone. Traffic counts have been taken at intersections how many cars are going and where?; and "before-and-after" counts were taken on key streets.

A meeting was scheduled for this Wednesday in Trenton to John W. Zimmerman Jr., Burnt Hill Road, Skillman, $35 for a stop sign violation. He pleaded no guilty.

DRUG EDUCATION SET
The program will be trained the first part of a three-day, a 5 e drug education program for New Jersey secondary school teachers and students will begin next month. Dr. Carl L. Marburger, state education commissioner, has announced.

Under the program, established and funded by an act of the State Legislature, drug education will become a part of health education curriculums early next year.

Dr. Marburger said that a cadre of teacher-instructors will be trained this summer. They, in turn, will train other teachers in the local school districts this fall, and each school district will have secondary school grades will have incorporated drug education in its health curriculum on, or shortly after, January 15.

The program will begin with an intensive three-week teacher training program. The program will be conducted, July 24, at three training sites, the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry in Newark, Rutgers University in New Brunswick and Rutgers of South Jersey in Camden.

Some 80 teachers will be trained in daily 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. sessions. The teachers will receive stipends of $150 a week.

In the second phase of the program, the summer-trained teachers will conduct a one-day workshop in the local school districts primarily for teachers in grades seven through 12. The workshops will consist of eight 90-minute sessions and must be completed by Dec. 15.

The third phase will consist of actual presentation of the program to the students, to be completed by Dec. 15. The program will be presented for the most part to students in grades 7-12. In some cases, students in grades 11-12.

DRUG EDUCATION SET
The program will be trained the first part of a three-day, a 5 e drug education program for New Jersey secondary school teachers and students will begin next month. Dr. Carl L. Marburger, state education commissioner, has announced.

Under the program, established and funded by an act of the State Legislature, drug education will become a part of health education curriculums early next year.

Dr. Marburger said that a cadre of teacher-instructors will be trained this summer. They, in turn, will train other teachers in the local school districts this fall, and each school district will have secondary school grades will have incorporated drug education in its health curriculum on, or shortly after, January 15.

The program will begin with an intensive three-week teacher training program. The program will be conducted, July 24, at three training sites, the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry in Newark, Rutgers University in New Brunswick and Rutgers of South Jersey in Camden.

Some 80 teachers will be trained in daily 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. sessions. The teachers will receive stipends of $150 a week.

"FLIGHT FROM REASON"

Seen as Current Danger, Dr. Robert F. Goheen, president of Princeton University, warned the graduating class on Sunday against the perils of impulsive discontent with the ills of society.

"What may be the greatest danger facing us today is neither in the realm of national policy nor in the many dangers within our society, but rather in the flight from reason — in a tendency to see things (and to try to deal with things) in large, sweeping emotion charged terms — in a rejection of complexity of gradations."

Delivering the baccalaureate address in University Chapel before an audience of 2,500, which included most of the 740 seniors, he commented that much of the student discontent is justified. "The list is long: our protracted involvement in Southeast Asia, so costly lives and national morale; the pressing problems of racial injustice, poverty, urban decay, pollution growth, pollution, bigotry, ignorance, etc."

Dr. Goheen noted that youth has already effected many changes in contemporary American society, and referred also to the changes in the nature of Princeton University over the past four years. Looking beyond the campus, he observed:

"... this nation is now finally — if belatedly — beginning to question, seriously and bravely, the propositions that a large and expanding military enterprise will actually provide security and promote peace in the modern world — and that our national interest depends on sustaining a particular government in South Vietnam."

A Time for Action. He said that the ugly facts of our decaying cities and our deteriorating environment are no longer glossed over. Lip service to the needs of the poor and the rights of minority groups no longer gets by; the drive now is for action.

He stated his belief that the pace of constructive change can be increased and remarkable goals achieved, adding a warning that reasoned change in a free society takes time.

"It is not just the next elections which count. It will be the elections year after year, involving both parties and the willingness of men and women of good will to work to run for office and to accept an assignment to stay in there contending, that will count in the long run. If you keep at it for only a short time, don't expect results."

"THE FREEDOM claimed by maturity is a freedom that includes self discipline." President Robert F. Goheen said in his Baccalaureate address Sunday in Princeton University Chapel. "In such freedom rests a free, orderly and progressive society. The options are the jungle or, more likely, iron rule."

If the cause of reason is upheld, Dr. Goheen concluded, "then the promise for the future . . . is large indeed. More than one thoughtful observer has marked the great vitality of America. I suspect that it is as great as at any period in our history. Who is to say that this time of discontent and of restless striving is not a dawn?"

I.C.U. SUNDAY SET At First Presbyterian, The 170th anniversary of the Japan International Christian University will be observed this Sunday at First Presbyterian Church.

Founded as a post-World War II act of reconciliation by American and Japanese Christians, the university has graduated more than 2,400 men and women, one-fourth of whom have gone on to advanced study. It includes a college of liberal arts, opened in 1963; a graduate school of education, founded 1957, and a graduate school of public administration, opened in 1963.

The offering will be sent to maintain the Christian emphasis, the academic superiority and international character of the institution. Mrs. John M. Larson of Princeton is a member of the I.C.U. National Women's Committee. Dr. William P. Fenn, an elder at First Presbyterian Church, has recently retired as general secretary of the United Board for Christian Higher Education in Asia.

Topics Of The Town

(Continued From Page 17) This periodic survey helps to keep YVCA members a part of the planning for their programming," according to Mrs. Janet Haines, adult program director. "We especially hope non-members will indicate what programs they would like to have offered by tapping the YVCA office at Avalon Place to complete a form," she added.

The following areas were listed in the questionnaire by Mrs. Crandall's committee as sought priorities for residents: art, music, discussion and lecture series with themes such as national concerns, women's rights, and environment, home and garden arts, interior design, and a special interest category for such items as auto mechanics, basic law writing.

The completed questionnaires are to be returned to the YVCA office, Avalon Place, no later than July 15.

CHARGE DROPPED

In discrimination case. A charge involving a complaint of racial discrimination brought against Salvatore LaPlaca, Jr., Linden Lane, has been dropped.

Diane C. Lewis, a graduate student at Princeton University, alleged that she was not afforded the opportunity to rent a two-bedroom apartment owned by Mr. LaPlaca at 240 Nassau Street, because she is Negro.

Mr. LaPlaca, who said the charge arose out of "a general misunderstanding," signed an order and decided the matter, and giving the apartment to Miss Lewis.

FEDERAL GRANT MADE

For Penn Central Trains. New Jersey has been awarded a $10.2 million Federal grant to replace obsolete Penn Central commuter trains between New York and New Jersey.

The money, made available under a program of the Federal Urban Mass Transit Act, will pay for two thirds of the cost of 45 more "Jersey Arrow" self-propelled electric cars. Delivery of the new cars will be in about 18 months to two years, according to sources in the New Jersey Department of Transportation. The state will provide the remaining one third of the cost.

The grant finances the and phase of a program to modernize commuter service. The commuter train, directed in 1965, calls for 120 high speed cars to replace 120 existing cars. The new cars are up to 40 years old. The Penn Central serves 14,500 daily commuters on the Trenton-New York run.

The first of the new cars went into service in October. The commuter train, directed in 1965, calls for 120 high speed cars to replace 120 existing cars. The Penn Central serves 14,500 daily commuters on the Trenton-New York run.

Penn Central's "Jersey Arrows," as the stainless steel, 120 passenger cars are dubbed, are capable of exceeding 100 miles per hour, although average running speeds are lower. The company says that its fastest trains make the 56 mile trip from Trenton to New York in 52 minutes, a speed exceeded only by its New York to Washington Metroliner when reaches a top speed of 122 miles per hour.

Last week, announcement of the grant by Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe in Washington coincided with release of a 14-page criticism by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, which cited inadequate and unimproved service by the Penn Central as well as dirty passenger cars and stations.

The Federal Urban Mass Transit Administration makes more than $100 million available yearly in matching funds to state and local governments for mass transit aid. Two thirds of the cost are borne by the Federal Government, and third by state and local governments.

NOT HAPPY OVER PARKING FINE INCREASE: 1 realize they need the money, says Mrs. Cathleen Litvak, in discussing the doubling of the overtime parking fine in the Borough, but she adds: "... it comes out of my pocket I'm not happy about it."

Question Of The Week

Question: What is your reaction to the doubling of the overtime parking fine in the Borough from $2 to $4? (effective June 15)

Where asked: Nassau Street

Al DeStefano, Plainboro, manager Variety Sport Shop If it is their intention to control traffic by eliminating it entirely they're well on their way to success. It's like being held up without a gun. At least Jesse James had the courtesy to wear a mask.

Wilson J. Espinosa, John Street, truck driver. I go along with them. I think it will eliminate meter stuffing and double parking. People are getting lazy; they just don't want to walk. That's the reason for double parking. I think they should make it $6. For emergency... if a guy has to run into the drug store for medicine... I think they should allow for that. But just to have anyone come up town and double park for a pair of cigarettes, is the punishment to those who have to drive.

Dave Brewer, Levittown, manager of Zinder's. I'm vehemently opposed to it. It's ridiculous. It's got to drive customers away. It's got to be if they're going to do this at least on the merchant's side give them one hour parking. Thirty minutes is ridiculous. If someone wants to come in and buy a gift, 30 minutes hardly gives you enough time to pick it out and have it wrapped.

Mrs. Mary Grahowski, Mammouth Junction, house wife: They have some nerve. I don't live here but I come here shopping and 30 minutes isn't long enough. My car parked out on me today and by the time I went to two stores my money had run out. I've had to feed it all day. It's costing me money; the Borough is getting rich on me. Four dollars is much too steep.

Miss Gas Miller, 243 Rosell Road, waitress at P.J. Pancake House: In Princeton it's ridiculous. Parking is made quite as it is. When they provide adequate parking facilities they can force us to pay $4. I'm a waitress in town; I have to come out a dozen times a day or get a ticket. I have no alternative; the nearest parking is too far away. If the money were to go to better parking facilities I could see it but I understand most of it is going to the county.

Mrs. Cathleen Litvak, 14 E. Stanwold Drive, part time clerk, Schenck Brothers: I've been caught sufficiently in not being in favor of it. I realize they need the money, but like taxes and everything else, when it comes out of my pocket I'm not happy about it.

Carl Glaz, Lawrence Township, employee Hill's Market: I don't like it at all. It shouldn't be. There's no adequate parking in this town in the first place. I'm all right... I come in every morning at quarter to eight and park in a lot. After 9 o'clock you're dead.

Mrs. John Thomas, 900 Kings Road, housewife: I'm not opposed to it. I've gotten enough parking tickets so I don't look forward to it but I think it is going to have to come to this. I've talked to a lot of people who don't care if they get caught. They figure they'll take their chances. If they get caught, they feel that they haven't spent any more than if they had put money in everywhere. A number of people have told me this.

Mrs. Joyce Bouney, Levittown, Pa., dental assistant for Princeton dentist: I don't think it should be, because the parking problem in Princeton is unbearable as it is. It's pretty tough on those coming out to work. Sometimes you get stuck with a two-hour meter out of necessity and you have to keep running out to feed the meter. I know I've been caught a number of times. I intend to be very careful from now on. I think they should improve facilities before they increase the fines.

Frank Sapito, 96 Einstein Drive, construction worker: I still think it is pretty cheap even at $4 compared to New York. In New York City it's $25, and $40 if they tow your car away. At that rate it's very high. Now if Trenton is only $2 then it makes a difference. I don't think Princeton should be any higher than Trenton.

Rudolph Schuler, Rocky Hill, cabinet maker: If you get caught you have to pay regardless of what the fine is. How can they keep the meters going if they don't pay $4. I don't think $4 is too high. It will teach them a lesson.

Mrs. Eunice Trken, owner of Urken Supply Co. 25 Witherspoon Street: I think it will hurt business because the parking problem is bad to begin with and this with the extra fine... it's bound to drive away some of my customers. The other day I told me she had to drive around the block two or three times looking for a space and ended up going to the shopping center. They don't give a customer a chance to go in and not change; they're very quick to give out tickets. They need some type of control parking that would encourage more customers. This way, they are just driving them away.

PLAYHOUSE

Women in Love (now playing) is a film for the many ad- mires of novelist D. H. Lawrence who were disappointed in previous screen adaptations of his works ("Sons and Lovers," "The Fox" and "Lady Chatterley's Lover"). It is also obvi- ously for people interested in the subject of sex on an intel- lectual plane. And surpassing both genres in size is the third the users who prefer to have their sex sensationalized. "Wo- men in Love" will appeal to them, too.

PRINCE AND TRENT

Boys in the Band (now play- ing) is a faithful adaptation of the hit off Broadway play by Mart Crowley. It deals with homosexuality, although the playwright's treatment of his material is too lightweight to dramatize the plight of the ho- mosexuals.

"NEVER IMPOSSIBLE" opened this week at 146 Witherspoon Street with an exhibit of American Indian photographs by Uli Steltzer and paintings by Rex Goreleigh and his students. Above is Miss Herta Wittenstein of the founding committee at work on the walls. Orders will be taken for the photographs and paintings will be sold. Store profits will go to Princeton youth.

IT'S NEW To Us

"NEVER IMPOSSIBLE" Opens Its Doors. "Never Impossible," an outlet for the arts, crafts and youthful energies, opened this week in a three room shop at 146 Witherspoon Street. Miss Herta Wittenstein is the spokesmen for the incorporated group of hackers who include Henry Hill, Princeton Township lawyer, a physician, a Trenton reporter and several others, all of whom are concerned about Princeton youth.

Serving on Never Impossible's advisory committee are Andrew Wyeth, who will do a painting for auction, Bruce Hermion of Viking Furniture, photographer Uli Steltzer, artist Rex Goreleigh, writer Eric Sloan, flyer Charles A. Lindbergh and Olivia Miller of Town Topics.

"We run into so many people who get into trouble with drugs — so many kids in trouble," Miss Wittenstein says. They raised enough money among themselves to go for "Never Impossible" going for a year. The shop will be a non profit enterprise, with a small percentage of the sales put aside to meet future overhead.

And what will it sell? Art by Princeton's undiscovered painters and sculptors. Pottery, hand knits, all sorts of hand crafts. It is looking to all ages — the young on up to the retired — to keep its shelves stocked with attractive items to sell.

And Never Impossible will also sell youthful energies. "We have contacted building contractors who will pay us a flat fee for cleaning up build ing sites," Miss Wittenstein says. "We would like to hire young people to clean up the sites and sell the wood as firewood."

"The emphasis is to keep the youth off the streets. The kids want to be challenged. And the kids, if they knew they could make at least $500 in the summer — they're interested — especially as they will be working on their own time."

Never Impossible plans art auctions, a messenger service, and in general, is open to ideas. Art instruction for young people is planned in painting, printmaking, pottery and sculpture by volunteer teachers from NYU, Trenton State and Princeton University. An early show will be abstracts by children in the Princeton nursery schools. "We have a couple of framers who will do a nice job," Miss Wittenstein says. Matter of fact, Profits will go to the nursery school.

"We are not going to compete with the galleries in Princeton. We would like them to come and see our things from time to time. Maybe we will have discovered someone who's ready to move along to bigger things."

This store will be managed by Princeton Seminary students this summer, and as the project shapes up, it looks as though it will be a great place for the canny shopper, for the unknown artist, craftsman and for the busy person who needs some youthful help.

WHIZZING ALONG

On Health Kick, It was back in December, 1964, that architect planning consultant Charles K. Agle came up with a detailed plan for bicycle paths in Princeton Borough and Township.

He argued that if bike paths can be achieved by city planners in Denmark, Norway and Sweden, it can be done in Princeton.

And from the way Tiger Auto is selling bicycles to adults these days, it looks as though the eight page Agle Plan is due to come up for a second review.

"It's the health addicts on an exercise kick," Jay Miranov of Tiger Auto said the other day, checking out the gears on a new Raleigh Sports bike in the Witherspoon Street store.

"People are buying a couple of bikes at a time — one for mother and one for father," added Nathan Miranov, Tiger proprietor.

You'll see their customers toiling up Witherspoon Street, where you don't realize there's a hill unless you're on two wheels. They're easing through traffic on Wiggins and Nassau Streets, bicycists dangling from the handlebars or packages stuffed into the rear wheel baskets.

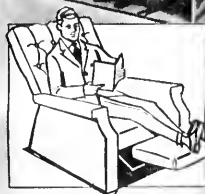

Tiger has been selling from 25 to 30 bicycles a week during the spring months. Even bicycles built for two are in some demand — an average of two are bought each week.

"There are more women than men buying bikes," Jay offers. The women outnumber men. Continued on Next Page

HEALTH FANS are going for bicycles these days, according to Jay Mironov of Tiger Auto. "It's better than jogging!" he claims.

It's New To Us

The men by about three to one. "They don't buy the kind the kids buy," chrome fenders and jazz lights. They are just going for the regular bike with the e speeds, a d handlebars, like the Raleigh or the Raleigh Blue. The "Toban Hoods."

The women customers are in their late twenties to early thirties, Jay guesses. "Then there's a gap until the late forties. After that they're buying them."

"Men? They're about my age and they're putting on a little weight and want to get rid of it. I know a couple of doctors who have recommended of bicycle riding over jogging."

Adult having began in the spring of 1969. Tiger noticed and has been growing ever since. A number of customers signed a petition for bike paths throughout the state, sponsored by the state bicycle dealers' association. "I don't think anything came of that either," Jay says.

If you're interested in buying a bike for your child, the pattern in Princeton City's town is different, and that's a fact. It is that only ten percent of the youngsters are interested in the high-rise handlebars with banana seats. The majority want a regular model with three speeds, a n and the gears.

Looking back over recent years, Tiger Auto finds that its Christmas sales in bicycles have gone down. "People are going to the discount stores for the Japanese bicycles that aren't as good," according to Jay. He emphasizes that Tiger stands in back of the likes it sells.

"I have had customers who have bought eight or nine bikes from me over the years. As long as you never give anybody a bad deal, they'll be back. In fact, most of my sales are through repeat customers from other people."

The revellers, who have been getting increasingly drunk, are coerced into a "truth" game in which they must call up someone they loved in secret in the past. Revelations of old loves, old girlfriends and old regrets turns the film from comedy to melancholy drama.

The ensemble playing of the unannounced gifted cast from the stage show is headed by Kenneth Nelson as the host with the tongue of an ad-lib.

GARDEN

Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice (now playing) is an American sex comedy about modern marriage and morals. The starring foursome are Robert Culp, Natalie Wood, Elliott Gould and Dyan Cannon.

The story concerns marital infidelity, wife-swapping, and communal love. It begins with that straddle the rear wheel. Culp, in the role of a success. This applies to both kids and full time maker, and his wife adults. And come September, (Miss Wood) spending a week there is not one bicycle that end at one of those resorts leaves this store, that doesn't where bored jet-setters learn to have a basket on it. "I don't communicate," is a totally "24 bicycles, mostly to stu the joy of life, etc. They re- month we have ever had."

WAS MY LAF PAKED?

General Scott, Think So, Brigadier General Robert L. Scott, Jr. will speak on "The American Military: Target of a Smear" at Timberland Junior High in Pennington on Saturday, June 13.

The 8:00 talk is sponsored by the Pennington Chapter of the Mercer County Area Committee to Restore American Independence Now.

A World War II flying ace, General Scott is the author of the book, "God is My Co-Pilot."

According to TRAIN, General

Scott believes that the secret attack against the American military is "nothing less than an attack against the American people."

The TRAIN committee urges all to attend. "To learn the truth about this Communist Lie—and what you can do to expose it."

DRAFT ALTERNATE URGED

In Bill By Rep. Thompson. Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., has announced that he will co-sponsor a bill that would permit a man of 18 to choose civilian service instead of entering a military unit.

The proposed legislation would give every potential draftee three options to fulfill his national service obligation: (1) volunteer for military service; (2) take a chance on being drafted under the existing lottery system; or (3) volunteer for alternate civilian service.

One of the important features of the bill, Rep. Thompson said, is that "it preserves America's traditional philosophy of civilian control over the military unit."

Under the civilian service option a registrant could work for a non-profit service organization such as a public school, hospital, or even in government. The period of employment would range from two to four years according to national manpower needs.

Those who choose such service would be paid only a subsistence wage. The difference between the subsistence wage and the going wage rate for the job performed would be paid to the Federal Government by the employer to offset administrative costs of the program. Should a registrant fail to appear or hold an approved service job on his own, he would be placed in a government-operated service corps.

The proposed legislation, Rep. Thompson said, "would give those who deplore war and violence an opportunity to serve their country in a useful capacity by performing constructive work at home."

UNIVERSITY GATES OPEN

In New Goodwill Gesture. As a symbol of Princeton University's openness to the Princeton community, the graduating Class of 1970 has requested the FitzRandolph Gates on Nassau Street remain permanently open.

The massive gates, erected in memory of Nathaniel FitzRandolph who donated land for the University in 1756, were previously closed on all but special occasions. The gates were recently reopened as a spontaneous gesture to indicate University involvement with the Princeton community in local and world issues.

In addition to inscribing their class motto, "Together For Community," on the east gateway pillar, the graduates of 1970 will include there a design of their class omersals with the peace symbol entwined. In one of the concrete footings which will house large rings to fix the gates back, the seniors will also place a small zinc box containing all of their names.

SPORTS In Princeton

CREWS AT SYRACUSE.
 For National Regatta, Princeton's fine crew for the title, Princeton will take part this weekend in the annual regatta staged by the Intercollegiate Rowing Association on Lake Onondaga at Syracuse.

Action will begin Thursday with the winners of each heat qualifying for the Saturday finals. On Friday, the repechage system will be in effect, with Thursday's losers rowing again and winners of those races becoming eligible for the finals.

As matters have progressed following the unsettled state of Princeton athletes during the campus "strike" this spring, the Tigers will enter four shells, but only one eight-oared boat. The latter will be the varsity.

Three four-oared shells — one composed of freshmen — will also row for the Orange and Black. Of the two at the varsity level, one will be made up of Varsity men. Earlier this spring, there were sufficient defections from the varsity and the freshmen to that eight-oared entries from Princeton did not enter the Eastern Sprints at Worcester.

Prinn, which lost only to Harvard during the past season, is favored at Syracuse.

BY UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Bob Schiffler

since the Crimson and Yale still retain their traditional program on the Thames at New London. There is, however, a trend toward participation in the national regatta. Yale's freshman boat has disbanded and Harvard's Class of 1961 will accordingly become the first entry from Cambridge in row at Syracuse.

Couch Pete Sparhawk's crew, beaten only by Penn and Harvard this year, is a dark horse in the advance ratings. So are Washington, Dartmouth and Navy, which has come along fast enough to whip Wisconsin last weekend. An intriguing first is in store for Princeton: one of its opponents in the first varsity heat will be Kansas State, which, somewhere, has found enough water to join the growing ranks of the nation's rowing colleges.

THREE TIGERS NAMED

To All-Star Ball Team: Three members of the Princeton baseball team, which compiled a 20 and 8 record while finishing second in the Eastern League, have been named to the league's All-Star team. One of them, first baseman Bob Schiffler, was selected for the second time, and, as a junior, stands a chance of becoming the first Princeton player in nearly two decades to earn all-star status for three consecutive years. Schiffler batted .429, third in the standings, and fielded his position well. Chosen with him were two Princeton players who were named to the second team a year ago: catcher Arnie Holtberg and short stop Todd Paulkner, who captained the Tigers in both 1968 and '69. Ray Huard, the captain-elect, was a second team choice at third base, while Jack Litton who won 4 and lost 1, was a pitching selection on the second nine.

Dartmouth, which also placed third in its players on the first team, last week became the first Eastern League representative since 1932 to qualify for the College World Series, now being played in Omaha. The Indians eliminated Providence and Connecticut in the District I Tournament, running their winning streak to 20 games.

No league team has made it to the series since Princeton did so 18 years ago. The Tigers narrowly missed 1 to 1965, losing in the final round of the District II Tournament to Lafayette.

TENNIS TEAM THIRD

After Three Defaults: Leading the Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Association with a perfect 6-0 record near the end of the season, Princeton lost a chance to win the title when the team disbanded to partake in campus "strike" action. As a result, Harvard and Penn., both of which the Tigers had defeated, tied for the title with 7-2 records while Princeton defaults lowered its record to 6-3.

The final standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Penn	7	2	.778
Harvard	7	2	.778
Princeton	6	3	.667
Columbia	6	3	.667
Army	5	4	.556
Navy	4	5	.444
Dartmouth	3	5	.375
Cornell	3	6	.333
Yale	2	9	.286

TWO FROM PHS FIRST

In Girls Track Meet: Two Princeton High School girls, members of the school track team, finished first in the Red Bank Invitational. Championships held earlier this month, Lindsay Blatter, a junior who had never run the mile in under six minutes, captured the event with a clocking of 5:19, "which is darn good for a girl," said her coach LaMont Fletcher. Sophomore Lori Bowman won the high jump with a leap of 4'11". "Both were sensational," said Fletcher.

Fletcher, a graduate of the PHS Class of 1961, was an outstanding hurdler for two years for the Little Tigers. This is his first year as coach of the girls team. He is a teacher at Community Park School.

As a team, PHS finished fourth out of a field of 15. Only half of the 22 members on the team made the trip and Fletcher commented: "Had we taken a full squad I feel sure that we would have easily taken third place." The event was won by Frank in High School; Matawan was second, Lakeview third.

"She is an outstanding girl. She has great potential. She wants to be a good runner and she is going to be," said Fletcher of Blattner.

Fletcher reported that he intends to work next year with Bowman, who used an old fashioned scissors style to win the high jump, to see if he can effect some improvement. He also placed fourth in the 30 yard dash.

Her sister, Andrea Bowman, was second in the broad jump and third in the 100 yard dash.

JEFF HARING NAMED

As All-Round PHS Athlete, Jeff Haring, three-year letterman on the basketball and basketball teams, has been named the all-round athlete at Princeton High School.

In addition, Haring shared with Paul Riddell the outstanding basketball award. While Riddell was also named recipient of the annual William D. Wolman Basketball Award, presented to the player who best displays the characteristics of sportsmanship and ability.

Half miler Steve Foltyn, the oldest of three Foltyn brothers on the track team, was named recipient of the Jerry Cypress Track Award, and Joseph Bolster won the cross country award.

In State Meet, Lawrence Parker, Princeton High School's only entrant in the annual state track meet Saturday, finished sixth in the javelin with a throw of 174'9".

"It was a miserable day for him," said his coach, Larry Ivan. "It was cold and rainy and the runway became unbelievably muddy after the first two or three throws." Parker, also a fine 220 sprinter for PHS, depends heavily on his speed for distance, and he was hampered by Saturday's quagmire. He and miler Joe Bolster will head a list of returning lettermen. Also back to try to improve on this season's 1:11 record are sprinters Phil White and Don Dwens.

What is your protection?

While most of us will never face armed combat, all of us need a sure basis for safety.

Many are finding real protection through a better understanding of God as the preserver of man.

This is not just blind faith, but a scientific knowledge of the divine Principle that governs us all.

If you'd like a more certain sense of safety in your life, you will enjoy hearing the Bible Lesson read in our church this Sunday.

Conover, 9.2, in its opener Against Varsity. Cap Crossland honored and Al Gordon tripled to pace a 14-hit attack. Crossland and Steve McLean had two hits each and Dan Alayne homered in the victory over Conover Motors.

Cote's Bar, which ran away with the 1c a few last year only to be upset in the playoffs, started off on the right foot again this spring with an 11-0 triumph over Ivy Inn in its only outing. Frank Caswell's homer sparked a five-run first inning rally which was all Cote's needed.

In other games Bruce Sandvik and Tom Brophy rapped three hits apiece to carry Nassau Conover to a 9-7 win over the Outlaws. Anthony DeCaro and Jeff Wetterling both singled for the only West Windsor hits, and both went on to score.

West Windsor defeated Lawrence VFV, 8-2, on Sunday for its second victory. Pitcher Don Crosby scattered five hits and struck out eight.
